Isolation, Culturing, Characterization and Aging of Adipose Tissue-derived Mesenchymal Stem Cells: A Brief Overview

Isolation, Culturing, Characterization and Aging of Various source-derived mesenchymal stem cells (MSCs) have been considered for cell therapeutics in incurable diseases. To characterize MSCs from different sources, we compared human bone marrow (BM), adipose tissue (AT), and umbilical cord blood-derived MSCs (UCB-MSCs) for surface antigen expression, differentiation ability, proliferation capacity, clonality, tolerance for aging, and paracrine ...

Cell potency is a cell's ability to differentiate into other cell types. The more cell types a cell can differentiate into, the greater its potency. Potency is also described as the gene activation potential within a cell, which, like a continuum, begins with totipotency to designate a cell with the most differentiation potential, pluripotency, multipotency, oligopotency, and finally unipotency.

Introduction. Brown adipose tissue (BAT) is a specialized organ that converts carbohydrate and lipid substrates to thermal energy to defend body temperature in response to cold environments (Cannon and Nedergaard, 2004). This core function of BAT depends on robust electron transport activity that is fueled by a capacity for glucose and lipid consumption proportionally greater than any other ...

Bioengineering, an international, peer-reviewed Open Access journal. Microfluidics platforms can program small amounts of fluids to execute a bio-protocol, and thus, can automate the work of a technician and also integrate a large part of laboratory equipment.

This protocol is designed to create human gingival tissue equivalents, gingival wound models, and gingivitis models. Human skin epidermal keratinocytes (HaCaT) were kindly provided from Professor Norbert E. Fusenig of Deutsches Krebsforschungszentrum (Heidelberg, Germany) 7. Human gingival fibroblasts (HGFs) were isolated from gingival tissues according to the previously published protocols 8.

Histology, also microanatomy, is the branch of biology which studies the tissues of animals and plants using microscopy. It is commonly studied using a light microscope or electron microscope, the specimen having been sectioned, stained, and mounted on a microscope slide. Histological studies may be conducted using tissue culture, where live animal cells are isolated and maintained in an ...

Two documents were particularly important in this evaluation. A WHO consultation held in 1998 (van Leeuwen & Younes, 2000) established a tolerable daily intake (TDI) of 1-4 pg/kg bw, which was applied to the toxic equivalents of PCDDs, PCDFs and coplanar PCBs.
